Speaking of the college in general, President Kerr says that "the people of the state are coming more and more to appreciate the value of the distinctive work offered by the college. This is no doubt largely due to the success of former students and graduates in making practical application of their college work. A list furnished by the professors shows that many of the distinction of the present scale in some instances.

Those who let a cough run on, in ignorance of the danger, find no escape from the consequences when the cough develops into lung trouble.

The best time to kill a snake is in the egg. The best time to cure a cough is when it starts. Ordinarily, a few doses of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure a cough at the beginning. providing a permanent fund, or militax, for the support of the college. We concur in the estimates of what will be required during the next two years for additional bulldings and equipment and for general maintenance. While the amounts asked for appear large in the aggregate, the growth of the institution makes imperative the necessity for much larger amounts to meet the different requirements of the institution. Indeed, the estimates are not only conservative, but in some particulars are unquestionably lower than they should be.

The unfounded rumor caused excitement in the Kaffir section of the stock exchange. The report brought out many sellers, which quickly depressed prices. No sooner had the market recovered from this scare, when the news of the serious illness of Alfred Beit, the South African financier, caused another flurry, especially in Chartereds, De Beers and other Rhodetian securities. They closed, however, above the lowest quotations of the day.

GEORGE A. LOWE LAID TO REST

Attended by Friends.

BY THE REV. C. T. BROWN.

The remains of the late George A. Lowe were yesterday afternoon laid to rest in Mt. Olivet cemetery. The services were South street. The dttendance was so large that many who desired to pay their last respects to the well known and respected citizen were unable to get into the house.

Between the hours of 10:30 and 12:30 o'clock the remains lay in state and were viewed by many of the friends and assouth the strends are strends and assouth the strends are strends as the examination for entrance to the united States navy. Because he did not weight as much as his height would indicate he should. Archie Mackey, another applicant, will remain among the civilians. o clock the remains lay in state and were viewed by many of the friends and associates of the deceased. At 2 p. m. the funeral services commenced. The handsome casket rested in the parlor amid a perfect garden of flowers. The floral tribute was one of the most elaborate and extensive ever seen in the city upon a like occasion. Over the casket, and almost hiding it, was thrown a large blanket of roses, On an easel near by was another beautiful blanket of hothouse flowers. A number of other handsome set pieces were grouped about the casket. Clusters of roses and other flowers filled every available space in the room.

Appropriate music was turnished by a mixed quartette. A most eloquent and touching tribute to the life and character of the deceased was paid by the Rev. Clarence T. Brown, pastor of the First Congregational church, of which Mr. Lowe was a faithful and valued member. Dr. Brown spoke in part as follows:

WARRANTS UNCALLED FOR.

State is Made Richer Through the

Peculiarity of a Statute. The state is several hundred cricher today than it otherwise would richer today than it otherwise would have been were it not for one of the peculiarities of a statute affecting the present bounty law. The money is in the state treasury awaiting the pleasure of the claimants, who live in remote parts of the state, and who will probably never call for it unless chance brings them to Sait Lake. The sum to which each is entitled is not large enough to wafrarnt them paying railroad fare to the capital to receive it.

them paying railroad fare to the capital to receive it.

Under the statutes Auditor Tingey can not issue a warrant for a wild game bounty claim unless a receipt is given at the time of issuance of the same. Since the state assumed the payment of the bounties hundreds of people from all parts of the state have sent Auditor Tingey certificates issued by a county clerk, asking for a warrant in exchange. The certificate was registered, and the claimand notified that he must either apply in person for the warrant or assign it to some one who could sign for it in the receipt book in the auditor's office.

A large number of people have assigned their claims to friends coming to Sait Lake City, who receipted for the warrant in Auditor Tingey's big book. In several hundred instances no replies have been received by the auditor to the notices sent out by him, and the warrants against the bounty funds for various sums remain uncalled for in his office.

In his report to the governor, which will be filed today, Auditor Tingey calls attention to the peculiarity of the statute and recommends that the bounty law be changed so that warrants can be issued against the bounty fund by the county clerks.
